Every night, there are over 36,000 homeless young people roaming our streets in search of food, clothing and safety, with nowhere to go. The future of many of these lonely, alienated and isolated children depends on the Property Industry Foundation.

The Property Industry Foundation is a non-profit charity, not aligned to any religious or political group. Their sole task is to unite all companies and associations in the property industry, by providing a network and philanthropic facility with the aim of helping young people at risk.
